ABIJAH RAMSDELL

AND HIS DESCENDANTS

BY

ELIZA A.(PATTERSON) SHELDON

ABIJAH RAMSDELL AND HIS DESCENDANTS

Compiled by Mrs. Eliza A. (Patterson) Sheldon, dated 1934.

Original Copy owned by Mrs. Everett M. Salisbury of Rutherford, N.J., and loaned by her to the Flint Genealogical Society for this typing in 1964.

This Copy typed by Mr. Merle G. Perry, Jr., of the above Society in June, 1964, for placement in the Flint Public Library, Flint, Michigan. A carbon-copy is to go to the Burton Historical Collection, Detroit, Michigan.

Note: except for considerable rearrangement of the form in the Original Copy, and perhaps the inevitable typographical error, no changes have been made in context. The Original Copy was typewritten, generally well-organized, with a single page for each marriage. However, a number of marriages ~~were~~ of children were explained on the parent's page without a later separate page being entered. In This Copy details of such marriages are deferred to their proper places in the genealogy. Throughout the Original Copy were numerous handwritten notations. These have been indicated in This Copy by the expression "(ms)". Various commentaries of the author have been retained in the text, e.g. "memo book records", etc. Possible errors or problems in the Original Copy are handled entirely in comments by Mr. Perry in footnotes in This Copy.

Comment: there is but one reference to a burial of anyone in the entire genealogy: Gertrude W. (Briggs) Anthony was buried in Woodland Cemetery. Members of the family were either very virtuous or long-suffering, for not one divorce is mentioned in the entire record. Perhaps the author chose not to enter such data. This genealogy does reflect much faithful work over a long period of time. We are pleased to bring it to light so that it might be available to other searchers.

(ms) Information from Bible of John Ramsdell's 1875*

Notes: John Ramsdell died in Scituate, R.I., 16 Aug. 1839, after a short illness which he bore with Christian patience. In his death, as in the death of every good man, society sustained a great loss. His benevolence and philanthropy were wisely directed for the moral improvement of society especially in his own neighborhood, and his zeal in the cause of suffering humanity was based upon the more exalted principle of Christian benevolence. In the domestic circle his virtue shone most conspicuously, and in his death his family sustained an imparable loss, and his neighbors lost a kind and obliging friend.

Lucy Ramsdell, his widow, lived on at the Homestead to the advanced age of 92, surrounded by her children and grandchildren. She retained her faculties to a marked degree and was loved by all who knew her. Her birthday each year marked events on the calendar, and as many of the relations as could gathered with her each year, also some of the intimate friends

Notes (re. Harriet Ramsdell Battey family): Deacon(ms) Horace Battey was a farmer and owned and lived on a farm in Scituate, R.I., many years. The farm was located a little south-west of the Scituate Town House. He became converted and joined the South Scituate Baptist Church early in life. He was made Deacon in 1859 and held that office up to the time of his death. He was really one of the pillars of the church for more than fifty years looking after its interests in all of its departments. By words of cheer in times of adversity and words of caution in prosperity. He was ever found in his place in the Sanctuary on the Sabbath with words of cheer and comfort to those needing his counsel.

For a number of years previous to his death on account of his deafness he was deprived of listening to the Words of God. Yet he patiently resigned himself to God's Will. As his relations and friends followed him to his last resting place, they could well have said, "Son of God, well done -- Rest from thy lived employ".

Harriet Battey, wife of Deacon Horace Battey and daughter of John and Lucy Ramsdell united with the South Scituate Baptist Church May 1, 1829, and ever lived a devoted Christian life. She loved to attend the prayer and conference meetings and her pleasant smile and words of encouragement live after her and will long be remembered. She died May 24, 1884, at the advanced age of 81 years.

Their Children:

100 x1. Abbie E. Potter b. 20 June 1849 Scituate, R.I.

101 x2. Earl Angell Potter b. 22 May 1859

Notes: Emra A. Potter early sought and found a Saviour's love and walked in the ordinances of God to divine acceptance. He was always a ready and willing helper to the Church needs and none more fully realized the force of the saying, "It is more blessed to give than receive." The South Scituate Six-Principle Baptist Church lost one of their main support at his death..

At an early age he entered into the manufacture of Bobbin established by his father Moses Potter in Scituate. In company with his brother the business had been successfully conducted for more than half a century, and as Emra was traveling agent for the firm he was more widely known in R.I. and in adjoining States. His dealings with his fellow men were conducted on Christian principles. He was married and kept house in the house where he died over fifty years.

She and her husband were both members of the Six-Principle Baptist Church, but on moving to Providence, wishing to belong to a church near their home, united with Roger Williams Free Baptist Church. She was greatly beloved by all who knew her, and she loved to help and to brighten their lives. She was in poor health for years but was cheerful and contented throughout her affliction.

Notes: James M. Brayton was a well-to-do farmer in Scituate, living on the farm where his father died about one mile north of Fiskville Four Corners. He was not of a roving temperament, and the place of his birth was also the scene of nearly all of his life. He was not at all interested in politics and never filled or sought any office. He possessed a strong and robust constitution, and until the attack of pneumonia, which so suddenly ended his days on earth, was rarely even sick. He was the youngest of a family of five, but the first of that family to be called away. His death was the first break in the family for 89 years.

Notes: During the years immediately preceeding her marriage, Mary Susan Wilbur was engaged in teaching in the public schools of Providence, in both elementary and grammer grades, This experience, together with unusual fondness for children, fitted her for what later became the crowning achievement of her life. At an early age she consecrated a portion of her time on Sunday to the religious training of children, and for more then forty years she consistently spent that consecrated time in carrying out her original purpose with the result that what would otherwise have been an obscure and little-known Sunday School became and was recognized throughout the State of Rhode Island as leading to the spiritual development of its pupils, who later in life became in many instances the leaders which inspired and quickened into activity many another Church and Bible School. The name of Mary Susan Brown will be an inspiration to Christian Activity in the lives of a company whose numbers will be known to God alone.

She was greatly interested in the Ramsdell Genealogy. The writer is greatly indebted to her for much of the William Ramsdell history as she furnished a larger portion of it. She suffered a fractured hip on Oct. 21, 1921. She was buried at the Woodland Cemetery.

151 x2. Amey Ramsdell Wilbur b. 24 Jan. 1879 Providence, R.I.

Notes: Ira Ramsdell Wilbur, born in Scituate, moved to Providence when very young. He attended school in Providence, and then served a short time in the Civil War belonging to the 10th R.I. Regiment, Co. E. After his return he went into the retail shoe store of Mr. S.C. Kinsley, which was later the S.C. Kinsley, Son, and Co., Ira R. Wilbur belonging in the firm. Still later Mr. Kinsley retired, and the business, now a wholesale boot and shoe store, was called Congdon and Wilbur. On the death of Mr. Congdon, it became the Wilbur Shoe Store Co. Though belonging to the Masonic Fraternity and at one time to the Pomham Club, he gave little time away from home and business. He was always most loyal to his family.

Halsey P. Clarke was Town Clerk in the Town of Richmond 56 consecutive years! Only twice in that period was there any other candidate in opposition. He was born May 8, 1818 and died Aug. 31, 1908, holding this office until June preceding his death.

156 x3. Jane Ballou Angell b. 27 Jan. 1894 Washington, D.C.

Notes: Albert E. Angell lived in Washington, D.C. where he held a position until the time of his death. Since his death, Mrs. Angell received a letter from the Chief saying, "There was not a better-loved man nor a more patient man in the whole War Department. Mr. & Mrs. Albert E. Angell are both direct descendants from our early settlers in Providence Plantations and State of Rhode Island. Thomas Angell and Richard Waterman both came to this country in the same ship "Lion" in 1631. Angell and Waterman parcels of land joined each other then, and as seen today Angell St. and Waterman St. are side by side.
